

Dear Friend,

For many of my constituents, my website is their gateway to Washington. Whether someone wants to find information about my work in Congress, look up issue positions, stay up-to-date on the latest news, get help from a caseworker, or request a tour of the Capitol, the first place they go is my website.

That's why I'm pleased to announce that my site was just selected as the best website in Congress by the Congressional Management Foundation. I have also re-launched my website in order to give my constituents an even better online experience. Now, it's even easier to keep up with my work in Washington and on Long Island.

For more information, and to check out my new website, please visit <http://israel.house.gov>.

Sincerely,

Steve Israel

Member of Congress
